DEAR FRIENDS OF THE LAA

In January 2017, the Latin American Association (LAA) launched a new exciting and ambitious organizational strategic plan. Our new strategic goals serve as a roadmap to transformation of the LAA from a local direct services provider to a dynamic thought leader, convener and informer with a state-wide geographic footprint. The LAA will continue to provide a targeted menu of services, strong regional influence and maintain its reputation as a high-performing change-maker at the individual and systems levels.

In the short term, the LAA's new strategic plan will result in empowered, well-functioning Latino individuals and families. In the long-term, our work will help build a better, brighter future for all of Georgia's Latino community.

Our new strategic plan is already achieving significant community impact. We are excited to share the results and transformative outcomes of the past year with you.

Cross Keys Cluster Redistricting and New Schools

At the local level, the LAA was a founding member of the Cross Keys Task Force, a local alliance of nonprofits, school professionals and stakeholder groups formed to harness community feedback to drive positive change in DeKalb County's underperforming, Latino-majority Cross Keys School Cluster and address issues of redistricting, transportation, overcrowding and school safety. These efforts resulted in school board approval of redistricting and the construction of two new charter schools in the Cross Keys Cluster to ensure high quality education for low-income Latino youth and move the needle on standardized test scores, school day attendance and high school graduation rates that are currently among the lowest in Georgia.

Local Atlanta NPR station WABE, the AJC and Mundo Hispanic among additional local Hispanic media outlets covered this issue and the LAA's involvement extensively. A sample of the coverage can be found below:

MICRO-LOAN FUND LAUNCH

In 2016, the LAA launched a new micro-loan fund as part of the Women's Economic Empowerment Program, the Latina Leadership Institute. Funded by The Coca-Cola Foundation, the fund provides loans in the range of $3,000 - $7,500 to low-income Latina immigrants who are looking to start or expand their own small businesses. The first micro-loan was awarded to program participant Maria Zaá to expand her textile business Maria Zaá Collection. She used her $3,000 micro-loan to buy fabric and attend an original art and design trade show in New York City where she met wholesale clients and has since seen her business take off.

"I am grateful to the LAA for believing in my talent and making my dream come true."

LEGAL SERVICES EXPANSION

The LAA is one of only two nonprofit legal services providers in Georgia serving the Latino community. We house a full-service immigration law firm at our Atlanta service center with 6 full-time attorneys, 4 paralegals and a BIA-Accredited Representative on staff and have provided immigration legal services since 1999. In early 2017, these services were expanded to new LAA offices in Lawrenceville and Athens to meet demand and ensure critical, yet otherwise unavailable, legal services remain available and accessible to those most in need of them.

The LAA provides a wide array of immigration legal services from family-based legal services to legal services for victims of domestic violence to removal defense for adults and unaccompanied children. Services including family-based petitions, naturalization and citizenship, asylum, work permits and more are provided at low-to-no cost for Latino immigrants and their families.

HOUSING ADVOCACY

Refugee and Immigrant Housing Working Group

In FY17 the LAA formed and currently chairs the Refugee and Immigrant Housing Working Group, a consortium of agencies that serve immigrants and the public. This coalition builds upon the LAA's work as a lead agency with the Welcoming Atlanta Initiative and the City of Atlanta's Office of Immigrant Affairs and through the LAA's leadership has grown to become an influential group of 15 key agencies who provide solutions to housing issues challenges and drive their adoption and implementation at the local levels and state.

Most recently, the efforts of this group resulted in unanimous approval by the Atlanta City Council of a $40 million Housing Opportunity Bond for affordable housing and activation of an affordable housing collaboration between the Atlanta Housing Authority, City of Atlanta and Invest Atlanta. This funding will afford homeowner renovations, multifamily developer loans, down payment assistance, nonprofit development loans and land assemblage for affordable and workforce housing development.

Brookhaven Affordable Housing Task Force

As chair of the Brookhaven Affordable Housing Task Force formed in September 2016, the LAA's Director of Advocacy, David Schaefer, has led efforts to increase affordable housing in DeKalb County, prevent displacement of immigrant families and preserve the culture and diversity of the area.

On July 25, 2017, ahead of a comprehensive zoning rewrite undertaken by the city, the Brookhaven Affordable Housing Task Force made formal recommendations to the Brookhaven City Council focused on inclusionary zoning practices. Recommendations to be included in the zoning rewrite include:

- ✓ An affordable housing requirement for high-density developments and adding a density bonus for developers exceeding requirements.
- ✓ Use of impact fees and appropriate uses as incentives to encourage affordable housing units.
- ✓ Working with the DeKalb County Land Bank Authority to identify potential land parcels that may be either used to develop new affordable projects or mixed-income projects or be used to establish a city housing trust.
